Empowering Women in Guatemala

Tuesday 12th February 2018, 6.30 pm - 9.30 pm, Rotondes, Luxembourg

The second event of the cycle Expressions of Humanity aims to create awareness and a dialogue about ways and opportunities for women to use their own resources to work themselves out of poverty in Guatemala.

On the programme:

- Screening of “Ixcanul” the multi-awarded film by the Guatemalan filmmaker Jayro Bustamante (2015, VO French subtitles)
- A discussion on the challenges for the indigenous populations in Guatemala, in particular the status of women. The focus will be on women’s empowerment through the valorisation of culture and income-generating activities.
- The photography exhibition “Madre Mia”, portraying women from Luxembourg and Guatemala (2014, project by FDH Luxembourg and Lycée Technique des Arts et Métiers Luxembourg). A book and documentation corner, organised by ASTM and CITIM Library.

Languages: French and English; interpretation to English by the Agence interculturelle ASTI.

What is it that keeps the European jigsaw together?

In the first part of this workshop, participants will look at a number of satirical maps of Europe, in conjunction with 'cartographic' poems by Aleph and Pessoa. In the second part, participants will do a close collective reading of contemporary poems on the European condition, discuss possible angles, forms and images for poems of our own, and begin writing.

The workshop will be given in English, but participants can write in whichever language(s) they wish. Feedback will then be given by e-mail or in a possible follow-up session. Poems can be published on the Time For Equality blog, in time for the European elections.

SURVIVRE AUX COMPORTEMENTS RACISTES ET SEXISTES SUR LE LIEU DE TRAVAIL

2 mars 2019 14.00 – 15.30 Luxexpo The Box, salle 1er étage, entrée libre

Conférence avec Marie DasyIva, coach en entreprises et créatrice de l'agence NKALI Works.

La discrimination fondée sur la race peut venir en intersection avec d'autres formes de discriminations comme celle liée au genre, particulièrement en ce qui concerne certains groupes de femmes racisées ou défavorisées. Alors comment lutter contre ces formes multiples d'oppression ? Comment donner des ressources aux personnes qui subissent plusieurs formes de discrimination à la fois?

Conférence organisée par Time For Equality en collaboration avec Sandrine Gashonga, formatrice interculturelle, et le Clae Asbl. Langue: français.
